A Call For Trustees' Luncheon.

To the Trustees of the Schools of Hancock County:

At this time of the year, when the school session for 1922-23 is closing, and arrangements are being made for the employment of teachers for next session, the department of education, at Jackson, thinks it advisable to call a meeting of the trustees of the county together, so that we may discuss ways and means whereby our school system may be improved.

After all, the destiny of our school lies, in a great extent, with the trustees who are the direct officers of their respective schools, and our schools will be successful, in a large measure, in proportion to how well our trustees understand their duties and the things that they might do for school betterment.

I am, accordingly, calling a meeting of all school trustees of Hancock county, to be held at the courthouse in Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday, May 16th, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Arrangements have been made with the State Department of Education for Mr. J. W. Broom, assistant State superintendent of education, to be with us and help with the work in hand.

Mr. Broom has a state-wide reputation as a public speaker, and it will be well worth your while to hear him.

Miss Odom, the home demonstration agent, will prepare and serve lunch to all trustees, school board members and members of the Board of Supervisors who may be present.

The lunch will be served at the pavilion in the rear of the residence of Mrs. Chas. A. Breath, on the beach.

We trust that all trustees, school boards and members of boards of supervisors will avail themselves of the opportunity of being with us on that day, to partake of this reception and to hear what Mr. Broom has to say relative to the school needs of Mississippi and how they can assist in bringing this to pass.

Yours in the work,

T. E. KELLAR, Co. Sup't. of Education.

The trustees' luncheon referred to above will be served by the presidents and county council delegates appointed by the presidents of the various Home Economics Clubs organized throughout Hancock county.

We have a splendid club already existing, each with a good, strong list of officers, whose presence will make this meeting what we want it.

The club presidents are as follows: Mrs. A. H. Miller, Gainesville; Mrs. Bertha Lader, Sorin; Mrs. M. D. Lader, Vawdell; Mrs. F. B. Pittman, Cross Roads; Mrs. Daisy Frieson, Aaron Academy; Mrs. Albert Shaw, Sellers; Mrs. Roddie, Kilh.

The event is being looked forward to with quite a bit of interest and pleasure; by those who have been fortunate enough to be entertained before at the Beach Pavilion. Each one knows that with Mrs. Breath present, rain or shine, she'll keep something stirring all the time.

MAYME ODOM, Home Dem. Agt.

BUNKER HILL STARS OF BAY ST. LOUIS SHINE AGAIN!

Swamp the McCarthy, All Stars of New Orleans—Score 15-0.

The Bunker Hill Baseball Stars are shining again. They swamped the McCarthy all-star team of New Orleans last Sunday in a game wherein the score resulted 15-0.

The hard hitting of Earl Strong was featured with three doubles and three times at the bat.

Wallace Bontemps kept the New Orleans boys out of the winning throughout the entire game. Bontemps has pitched two games this season, winning both.

Lefty Collier will twirl for the Bunker Hill Stars tomorrow—Sunday—on Mile-Point diamond. The public is invited to go out and witness a good game.

The lineup of the Stars last Sunday was: Jim Collier, right field; Choiana, third base; Russ Lader, shortstop; Earl Strong, catcher; V. Loe, second base; Ellis Sylvester, center field; Richard Austin, first base; Elmer Gager, left field; Wallace Bontemps, pitcher; substitutes, Anthony Tomastich, F. Ramond.

All challenges address Russell Lader, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

We all believe in Mississippi, its resources and people. We recognize that we need more people and more money in order to properly develop our unnumbered opportunities.

We are asking you to attend a meeting of Hancock county citizens at the courthouse, Wednesday evening, May 16th, at 7:30, to listen to and take a part in the discussion of the plans and purposes of the Mississippi Development Board. We urge your attendance. Do it for yourself, your community and the State.

LOCAL LEGION POST ELECTS NEW HEAD TO SUCCEED WALLER

Adjutant Wilson E. Acker Is Made Commander, Vice Commander C. L. Waller, Resigned—Recently-Elected Officers Installed.

BIG BENEFIT PLANNED FOR THURSDAY, MAY 31.

Memorial Day To Be Observed in Hancock County May 31st—Poppy Sale For May 30th—Details To Be Published Later.

The regular meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps Post, No. 139, was held at the Hancock county courthouse on May 1st.

As the constitution of the American Legion provides for the election of public officers from holding office in the Legion, it was necessary that a new commander be elected.

The resignation of Commander Waller was accepted with regret. Though holding this office for a short time, he has been a most efficient officer.

Adjutant Wilson E. Acker was elected in place of Commander Waller, and Henry Egloff as post adjutant.

Also elected were: C. L. Waller, vice commander; and Comrade Acker to command.

Past Commander Waller installed the incoming officers and advised about their new duties.

Dan La Fontaine, Legionnaire, will open a pressing shop in the rear of the Plaza Bros. barber shop.

He has had among the many some of the best reports coming from the U. S. Veterans' Bureau for his diligence in training.

Thursday, May 31st, is the day set aside for the observance of Memorial Day.

Our Post at the A. & G. Picture Palace—"Skin Deep." This picture was run during the Legion convention in New Orleans and is declared by all who have seen it worthy of being seen a second time.

There will also be a display of the 1922 and 1923 cents admission will be charged. We feel sure that the public will be well repaid for this small sum, in the feature alone.

May 30th, Memorial Day, we will have the "Poppy" sale. This matter is under Chairman Deaux, and the amusement committee will publish in The Sea Coast Echo of the 26th definite plans for sale. This is the first poppy sale held at the Bay. We feel sure of success.

Memorial Day will be fittingly observed by Post 139, by displaying the graves of ex-service men in this county, under the direction of Comrade Gager, and volunteers of the Post.

Different cemeteries will be visited and wreaths, flags and flowers will be placed on the graves of these boys.

Those who wish to remember these men and have flowers to place on the graves of these boys can leave same at No. 326 Carroll avenue, or phone 155 and they will be called for on the morning of the 30th or the chairman of the day.

We wish to call attention to the matter of securing headstones or markers for the graves of ex-service men of all wars—that the U. S. government is providing free to applicants; the necessary forms can be secured by writing to the Hancock county courthouse, and freight is prepaid by government. This stone is about 29 inches high and is regulation cut as in national cemeteries.

COMRADE M. C. GAGER, Publicity Director, Legion Post 139.

—Miss Elsie Mauffray has returned home, after a two-weeks' stay at Biloxi.

Hancock County Bank,

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI.

RESOURCES OVER ONE MILLION FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.

NO ACCOUNT TOO SMALL TO SERVE.

Some one has said, and truthfully so, "that there is absolutely no cause for any of us to become 'stuck up' and haughty. We are all just plain, common folks traveling along together, animated by the same hopes, desires and ambitions."

The Grocer is not necessarily fat simply because he has so many good things to eat on sale; he may owe for the stock he is selling. The Butcher may get along on soup-bones in order to sell the choice steaks to the other fellow. The Farmer, the Lawyer, the Doctor, may have a mortgage on his home to enable him to own an automobile so that he may render more efficient service. The Banker is not necessarily rich because it is his business to handle money—mostly other people's money; so it is on down through all the phases of human endeavor.

We are all trying, or should be doing the best we can. At this Bank the small depositors are treated as fairly and as honorably as those who have the largest accounts with us.

Kindness, courtesy, sympathy and service are the things that count among sensible people everywhere.

We feel that any service rendered and any treatment given that is not satisfactory to the one served, is not satisfactory to us.

FOUR PER CENT PAID ON SAVINGS AND TIME DEPOSITS.

YOUR BUSINESS WILL BE APPRECIATED.

"AW, WHAT'S THE USE?" NEW CARTOONS.

Echo Cartoon Is Well Received on Every Side—Married Life Comic Strips Are Popular and Seem to Have Come to Stay.

The Echo's new cartoon strip, "Aw, What's the Use?" released through the Western Newspaper Union, has struck a popular response. The material is unimpaired read them with equal interest.

In fact, the most popular cartoon of the day are based on married life. Among them may be mentioned Sidney Smith's "The Grumps," so popular with the Times-Herald team, and "Mr. and Mrs. George McManus," "Bringing Up Father," popular with the New Orleans States reader, and now our own strip by L. F. Van Zelm, entitled "Aw, What's the Use?"

The reason for their appeal is not far to seek. Human relationships are the most important than marriage. It is the most interesting of all subjects and the artist who first thought of treating it in humorous drawings had a real inspiration.

Married life comic strips which are making the greatest hit are neither cynical nor sarcastic. They are amiable, and for the most part seek to extract humor from the small trials of the wedded state. The cartoonists do not make fun of marriage, but they do get a great deal of humor out of typical married life and the way in which they react to petty problems.

Only grave troubles endure against the force of satire or laughter. When man and wife have had a squabble, good humor is likely to follow their seeing the matter or thing similar to the one which caused the squabble.

They frequently get the idea that the cartoonist, at least, is laughing at them, which produces a sheepish feeling very effective in dissolving feuds.

They also watch the cartoon in the hope of being able to apply them to others. Probably one of the strongest appeals in comic drawings comes from the habit of trying to fit the caricatures to acquaintances—the pleasant ones to friends and the stingy ones to enemies.

Comic strips such as "Aw, What's the Use?" are wholesome, and there is good reason for thinking that they produce a vast amount of good. Another fact contributing to their great popularity is they are just as interesting to the unmarried as to the wedded.

The Echo feels sure its readers will be glad to see the strip appear week or whenever our space will permit of their publication.

THE AMERICAN LEGION NEWS SERVICE.

The American Legion's appeal for an endowment fund to provide for the permanent annual decoration of 32,000 graves of overseas dead has aroused interest in all parts of Mississippi. As Memorial Day approaches the number of contributions received at Legion State headquarters reaches new heights.

The largest sum in contributions to date has been received from the post at Pascagoula, it was announced by John B. Hudson, State adjutant. Pascagoula post forwarded to State headquarters $58.09 as that post's contribution. The Pascagoula post is composed entirely of former service men who are disabled and are in training at the big government school in that city.

Many newspapers are co-operating with the Legion posts in appealing to the public for contributions. The quota assigned to Mississippi is set at $1,300. It is the earnest desire of State headquarters that Mississippi raise her share, declared the State adjutant. "We cannot fail to carry our share, because the object for which it is being raised is most worthy."

The Bay 65-inch baseball team opened its season successfully Sunday last by defeating Westland team, score 16-2. The hitting of G. Blaise and Schwartz and the fielding of Egloff and Bontemps were features not to be overlooked. The time of play was 1 hour and 45 minutes. J. Egloff is manager.

MOTHER'S DAY.

Tomorrow, Sunday, May 13th, is Mother's Day, to be nationally observed.

Every human heart will pay tribute at the shrine of Mother. It will either be in person or some silent yet eloquent message or remembrance will quicken again all the impulse of sentiment the flood of thoughts mother inspires.

Every day is Mother's Day—or should be. But tomorrow, one day of all days, has been set aside that we as a people and nation might in one acclaim of tender sentiment worship and pay dutiful homage to this precious thought.

ECONOMICS CLUBS IN HANCOCK COUNTY.

The news columns of The Echo from week to week record the organization of Home Economic Clubs in various places. Last week Waveland was mentioned in the news; this week Kiln, and all has not been told. The fact is, through the broad vision of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock county the services of the home economic agent have been restored and although only of recent date already Miss Odom has made the presence of her work felt.

This sort of work of the constructive type is manifold in results and far-reaching not only for the present but for the future as well. Building along these lines is not only for the present, but telling for the future. The attitude of the county officials in the premises bespeaks the fact how mindful they are of those things which effect closer the people as the individuals and how closely they foster the elements that mean better conditions in the home and more satisfactory living.

THE TRACTOR ERA.

It should surprise even those persons who have kept track of farm and orchard development in Mobile county to learn, as stated in the Sunday Register, that there are in use in the county some eighty odd tractors of one make alone. Time was, and not so very long ago, when farming operations were of such elementary nature here that the mule and the plow served all the farmer's needs. It is evident, however, that the plow and mule era is ending, if not already ended. The era of improved machinery has come, and to stay—Mobile Register.

We do not know how many tractors there are in Hancock county and contiguous territory, but it is certain the number is considerable.

The day of the farmer using plow and mule is gone. No farm in South Mississippi, and the Gulf Coast particularly, can be considered profitable to the farmer of the immediate future without its citrus and fruit orchards. So it is with the farm and will be with the orchard—the tractor is an element in cultivation not to be overlooked. The Register truly says, "the era of improved machinery has come, and to stay." It is an investment that will soon pay many times for itself.

That the eighty-odd tractors in use in Mobile county are of one make, no one need be told what they are. Eighty-odd cases out of every hundred, the car in your garage is of the same make.

HOLDING PUBLIC INTEREST.

How can we write down 1923 as a prosperous year in business history? "The greatest cure for hard times," says William Wrigley, Jr., "is to stop talking about hard times, get to work and keep money and goods in circulation. The year 1922," declares Mr. Wrigley, "was regarded as a pretty bad period for lots of concerns in the East and Middle West. For our chewing gum business it was the best year in the thirty years of my history as a business man. We are spending $11,000 a day this year to push Wrigley's chewing gum, and already we have every reason to believe it will be a bigger year for us than last. The judicious use of printer's ink is the greatest selling force in the world. If you do business on a world-wide basis, or even in the locality encompassed within a few blocks, you've got to keep the people interested, or you won't sell them your goods."

What has been good for Mr. Wrigley, and made him independently rich, ought to be good for a man doing business in Bay St. Louis. That's why we invite our business men to read the above lines carefully.

Boy Scouts of Colorado Springs, Colo., recently planted 4,000 Douglas fir seedlings and 2,000 pine seedlings in the Pike National Forest under the supervision of forest officers. Boy Scouts of Denver are eager to plant an area containing several hundred acres which were burned over several years ago, and arrangements have been made to begin planting operations in June. The Boy Scout organization in Seattle is also showing an active interest in forestry, and forest officers located in that city have recently conducted a series of examinations to those scouts who desire to plant the forest conservation.

BAY ST. LOUIS TO BE APPLAUDED.

The intention, as signified by official promulgation of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, at its meeting last Saturday, to issue bonds in the amount of $100,000.00 for the building of a new central and high school, will meet with the general approval of the majority, we feel certain. And the Board, admirably headed by that public spirited citizen, Mayor R. W. Webb, is to be applauded.

Nothing but a school building, fully and modernly equipped, to cost NOT LESS than ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, is wanted. We wish to "second the motion," thereby sanctioning it. In other words, the move for the building of a new school building, commensurate with the present importance and future greatness of this city, has our approval 100 per cent.

A LITTLE PAINT PAYS BIG DIVIDEND.

If the pedestrian on the beach front will notice in the show window of a certain store not a thousand miles from this newspaper office, he or she will note an attractive display of house paint advertising and display of wares. It is not only interesting to the passer-by, but timely. It is a reminder. A sign that beckons. A call that cannot be ignored.

If you haven't a new house, and feel that you don't need a new one, then sling a little paint on the old one and thus help to make Bay St. Louis more attractive this spring and summer than she has ever been. A little walk about town reveals many instances wherein the paint bucket could be brought into play with very beneficial results, and appearances improved as well as an extension on life given to the property itself.

"Save the surface and you save all" has become a national slogan since it was adopted by the paint and varnish makers of the country. It is popular because there is so much truth in it. The decline of a piece of residence property from a lack of paint is so slow that it is hardly noticeable for the first year or two. And then it is discovered that not only is the building shabby in appearance but the elements have, in the absence of paint, wrought great damage to the woodwork. The beauty has disappeared and with it has gone much of the surface.

It costs money to paint a house—but it costs more to let it go without paint. New lumber and carpenter's wages are more expensive than paint and varnish, just as new machinery costs more than oil. Keep this constantly in mind, and even though you don't feel like painting the house this spring or summer just for the sake of beautifying your own particular community, figure it out if it isn't a good idea to do so from an investment standpoint.

That show window display is beckoning. It is pointing a finger. Mr. House Owner, you cannot afford to pass it up.

HERE IS A LITTLE BOOK FOR THE ASKING.

The man who saves nothing is always wondering how the other kind of fellow does it. Uncle Sam is issuing a little book which tells all about it. It is called "How Other People Get Ahead," and any reader of The Echo can secure a copy by writing to the Treasury Department at Washington.

If timid about writing, the local banks will get it. Either Mr. Seal or Mr. Rea will be glad to get it. The local banks encourage thrift. No occasion is missed whereby the public can be benefited. The banks and Uncle Sam are ever concerned about elements of "Earn, Save and Learn."

According to this book the man who saves sixty cents out of every dollar, expends thirty-seven cents for living and the other three cents for education, recreation and charity is a tightwad. The man who saves nothing, spends fifty-eight cents out of every dollar for living, forty cents for recreation and one cent each on education and charity, is a spendthrift. But the man who saves twenty cents out of every dollar, spends fifty cents for living, ten cents for education, ten cents for recreation and ten cents for charity—he shall be praised—he is the really thrifty person.

It would pay almost anybody to get this little book and read and study it. Whether this is done or not, the classification of spenders is amusing and thought-provoking, and a few minutes devoted to comparing the figures probably would set most of us to a readjustment of our expenditures.

SOME DONT'S FOR CANDIDATES.

Jim Gillespie, who edits the Greenwood Commonwealth, and who has been a candidate several times and that successfully serving in the Legislature and other offices of honor and trust, has written a list of don'ts for candidates. Candidates have always been faced with what to do but in this instance we have a list of what not to do. It might be of value to some one and is worthy of reproduction.

The Jackson Clarion-Ledger says: If candidates would read over this list and act accordingly, there would not be more of them elected, but there would be fewer dissatisfied, sulky has-beens, down in the mouth and berating an unappreciative public for failing to elect the "best man in the race."

Here they are, read them and profit: Don't get into your head that because you want the office you are running for, everybody else wants you to have it.

Don't think for a moment that you are the only aspirant that possesses the fitness to fill the office you want. Don't go gyrating around trying to make voters believe your past experience in office safeguards you against future mistakes.

Don't tell folks your life is an open book and invite them to peruse it. It may be too open already for your success. Don't think that a handshake and a smile will win a vote from every one you happen to meet.

Don't think that because a fellow don't tell you that he won't vote for you that he is going to do so. Don't get over-polite before the primaries and under-polite after. Don't think that you have any more claim on the people than your opponent.

Don't ask for re-election on your record. Maybe that alone will defeat you.

Don't be habitual in office seeking or office holding. Remember the democratic principles of rotating. Don't boast of your church affiliations or fraternal experiences. Remember church membership is not always a guarantee of religion, or fraternal holdings surety of good citizenship.

Don't sulk if you are defeated. Only one can be elected to an office, and you may be the one the people want for the time being.

When called on to make a speech, don't try to tell something you don't know.

Don't go over the country worshipping the people. They have more essential things to consider than your candidacy.

Don't think that because you give Buddie or Sissie a nickel that that clinches papa's or mama's vote. Don't think because you drop in overnight the people where you stayed feel honored and under obligation to you. That alone might lose you a vote.

Don't endorse for every one who asks or needs it. You might get entangled, also defeated, and sore at somebody.

Don't whine about needing the office to assist you in making a living. Lots of us are living that never held, or expect to hold, an office.

Don't think an office favor places people under obligations to you. That's only your duty and you have already been remunerated.

Don't expect votes for politeness. You are due that to people anyway.

Don't feel too self-confident. Don't ride your dignity too hard.

If a praying man at all, don't pray any louder or longer than before your announcement for office. Don't count too heavy on being elected. The other fellow is doing that too.

Don't get too liberal with your meager means before the primary. You might have to retrench mightily strenuously afterward and for years to come.

Try to be just what you really are, and you will come out better in the end.

CANNING TIME "CUSSING"—IT BRINGS NOTHING!

Reports from Washington are to the effect that since Herbert Hoover sent out a forecast of a sugar shortage more than 2,000,000 tons he had not figured on have turned up from other sugar producing countries than Cuba. Which only brings Mr. Hoover deeper into the spotlight of public criticism. Uncle Sam is now threatening the sugar barons—while sugar goes to the highest point it has reached since 1920. And canning time is just around the corner. That's the worst part of this latest and greatest imposition on the great American few by a choice lot of New York stock sharks. Wall street bankers are being "cussed" up one side of the country and down the other, and our people are joining their protests with everybody else against a system which permits a half-dozen men to deliberately steal the sum of $200,000,000 off of the breakfast tables of this country. But there's no relief in sight, and canning season brings only more "cussing" instead of more sugar at old-time prices.

SOME FELLOWS.

(Continued.) Some fellows stay right in the rut. While others lead the throng. All men are not born equal, but they don't stay that way long.

NEVER TOO BUSY TO WASTE TIME.

One of the great mysteries is why people like to gather in a crowd and watch the pick-and-shovel brigade dig a hole in the ground. It's a curiosity that isn't limited to the big cities or to smaller towns. Go out into the country, start digging, and it'll be just a matter of minutes until the farmer will desert his plow or tie up his team and hurry across the field to watch. The crowd that gathers to watch the ditch digger is also ready to stop and gaze at the safe being hoisted out of a building, the fallen horse in the street, the bootleg victim sleeping in the gutter, or similar sights. It lures them all, from rushing business men to corner loafer—rich, poor, highbrow and simpleton. They're all afraid they'll miss something. They are never too busy to waste time. Yet no one has yet been able to tell just what makes all humanity alike in this respect.

CONNER'S RECORD ON WAR FOUND CLEAR.

Candidate For Governor Answers Critic in Convincing Statement—Citing His Record.

Hazlehurst, Miss., May 8.—Taking from his pocket a copy of the Hazlehurst Courier, Sennett Conner, candidate for Governor, in his speech to-night read an article therefrom which contained the statement:

"They say Conner was a slacker." "I have waited purposely," said Mr. Conner, "until I came to Hazlehurst so that I might answer this charge in the presence of the editor and readers of this paper. I am going to give you the true record to-night just as I have done everywhere in this campaign. I wish that every body in the State was within the sound of my voice so that those who want the truth could have it direct."

"I have no military record. A year before it was dreamed America would go into the World War I was elected speaker of the Mississippi House of Representatives for the term which extended throughout the time our country was engaged in the war. The draft act of May 18th, 1917, chapter 15, paragraph 4, declared that—

"The Vice President of the United States, the officers and executive and judicial—of the United States and of the several States, territories and the District of Columbia, shall be exempt from the selective draft herein prescribed."

The reason for this provision is self-evident. The machinery of government, Federal and State, had to function, and function efficiently, if our gigantic war effort was to succeed.

"However, in June, 1917, before a single division was in France, I volunteered unconditionally for military service in any capacity to which I might be assigned, to the adjutant general of our State, who was then recruiting units for war service. My enlistment was rejected." Whereupon Mr. Conner read from the signed statement of General Eric C. Stables, adjutant general of Mississippi, both during the war and at the present time, as follows:

"In view of the policy of this government, as evidenced by the draft act, which exempted State officers from military service, and the urgent appeal from President Wilson not to disrupt State, county and town governmental organizations by accepting for military service men so engaged, we decided that, in view of the fact that you occupied the most important position in the legislative department of our State government, that it would be unwise to accept your enlistment."

After inviting every Doubting Thomas to come forward and inspect the document from which he had read, Mr. Conner continued:

"I accepted the classification to which I was assigned, and gave my time without limit to every effort tending toward the success of the war, but what I did at home was nothing as compared with the sacrifices made by the men in the army and navy. I lift my hat to them."

"I cannot agree, however, that all men who could have gone to war and did not volunteer are now unworthy of holding public office, for this would include the thousands who awaited their turn under the draft, and it would include other thousands who were above draft age, but within volunteer age, and who could have gone but did not go because they were not called. Exemptions and deferred classifications were not made for the benefit of individuals, but for the welfare of the nation, and it was a man's duty to accept his classification, whatever it was, and that is why Mississippians did so. I was able to go, I was willing to go, I offered to go, and I would have gone except that the President, Congress and the Adjutant General of Mississippi thought it best that I remain at my post of duty."

"I have kept silent thus far, because these charges were not made publicly, or in my presence. My patriotism, like my religion, is sacred and I never boast of either. This war issue was fought out in 1919 when I defeated a returned soldier of ability, carrying all precincts except his home boxes, in my race for the Legislature, and when the fight was renewed in the Legislature I was re-elected speaker by the unanimous vote of the House. To a fair-minded person this would appear to settle the matter."

There are no war heroes in this town.

race. According to my information, all the candidates were within volunteer age. Some within draft age, and three were within the ages of twenty and thirty, as I am advised, when the Spanish-American war was fought—a war in which the government called for volunteers and each man determined the part he would play. Whereas, in the World War the government fixed each man's responsibility for him, and said it was his duty to act accordingly.

"I make this statement for the information of my friends and those who honestly want the record, realizing that I will not satisfy my political enemies. I hope the newspapers, in a spirit of fair play, will carry this over to the people who were not here tonight. —Mr. George E. Pitcher has returned from quite a business trip in Texas, extending as far as San Antonio, and at Tulsa and other points in Oklahoma. The growth of Tulsa is remarkable, says Mr. Pitcher, and he thinks it one of the richest cities in America.

—Mrs. John Weston entertained informally Wednesday afternoon at tea at her home in Logtown to meet her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roland Weston. Owing to recent bereavement in the family, the affair was a quiet one and included only Logtown neighbors and friends.

—Miss Clara Chapotel, accompanied by her mother, sister and brother, spent Sunday visiting Bay St. Louis friends. Miss Chapotel is an overseas nurse and is at present at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, No. 84, in Algiers, as assistant director of Red Cross medical service.

—At its regular meeting Saturday the Board of Mayor and Aldermen declared its intention to issue bonds in the amount of $100,000 to mature in twenty-five years, for the purpose of building and equipping a public school building for the city of Bay St. Louis. An election to determine the matter has been called for Saturday, June 30th.

—Reports from the King's Daughters' Hospital, at Brookhaven, are to the effect that Miss Mary Bourgeois' condition continues such as to expect her arrival home possibly next Wednesday, to be conveyed on a cot. Mrs. Bourgeois is with her daughter and reports the patient doing very well, which will be good news to the many friends of the family.

—At the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors held this week it was ordered the county poor house at Galesville be located at Bayou LaCroix instead, and bids are asked for the construction of a new home. The new location is more accessible, nearer the county seat and for various reasons it was deemed better to make the change.

—Mr. Simon L. Engman, the urbane and popular assistant at the Hancock County Bank, has been spending part of the week at Meridian, attending the Mississippi State Bankers' Association, in which he took active part. From press reports of the proceedings it is noted where his name appeared frequently and also as member of important working committee.

—Having purchased a citrus fruit farm and peach orchard near Gulfport, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. McCarley and three sons and Mrs. McCarley's mother, Mrs. B. P. Tyler, are expected to arrive on the Coast from their home in Fort Worth, Texas, on or about the 19th and will make this section their future home. The many local friends of this excellent family will note with more than ordinary interest their intention to move nearer home.

—It is quite a compliment to the stability of values in Hancock county and to the confidence thus expressed that the whole issue of $400,000.00 Hancock county bonds, for road and bridge purposes, should have been purchased locally by both banks, the Hancock and the Merchants Bank and Trust Company, through the Hancock County Bank. The local banks have not only expressed their willingness thereby but have shown a commendable spirit not to be overlooked.

—Attorney C. L. Waller spent Wednesday at Gulfport where he defended Thos. J. Harris, a white taxi driver of Piquette, charged with the killing of Henry Marshall, a colored man at an early hour Sunday morning near Gulfport, while Marshall and a party of colored people were riding in his car, a fracas originating from the result of having been given a hearing and given his liberty, the killing found to have been justifiable.

—The Merchants Bank and Trust Company carries an advertisement in another column of this week's Echo offering free artesian water to fall who may wish to help themselves during the period of construction of the waterworks system. Some cannot drink the water with its taste from the new iron and tar-lined preparation while others are chafed from supply. The faucet is on the south side of the bank building, near the corner of Main and Front streets, and Mr. Waller says, "Help yourselves, please, simply help."

—Mrs. R. W. Webb has returned from New Orleans, where she spent four days visiting at the home of her sister and other relatives.

—Mrs. Joseph O. Mayfray, who was recently called to Baltimore, Md., by a message announcing the illness of her daughter, Iolanthe, writes home the patient is doing nicely and both expect to return home as early as possible.

—A force of painters are at work on the Episcopal rectory, Carroll avenue, practically transforming the handsome bungalow to greater enhancement. Painters and carpenters never seemed so busy in Bay St. Louis as this spring. Let the good work continue.

—The first club dance of the season at the Waveland Club Saturday evening represented a fair at Logtown and was one of thorough enjoyment. There were quite a number of out-of-town guests. The next dance event at the club house will be the benefit dance for the athletic fund, which event will occur on Saturday, May 26th. The funds will be used to further build the tennis courts.

—Mr. J. P. Gooch, superintendent and resident manager for the Delta Cement and Construction Company, of Greenville, Miss., builders of the Bay St. Louis sea wall, and Mrs. B. Brook, of the same city, were married on May 2nd, and motored to Bay St. Louis after the ceremony, and are spending their honeymoon at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Webb, in Carroll avenue. They have the best wishes and congratulations of their many friends.

—Having already decided to do so, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of Hancock County will meet tonight to call an election, in order that the voters may pass on a proposed $160,000 bond issue, to be spent in this wise: $19,000 for waterworks improvement; $18,000 for addition to white public school; $18,000 for new colored school; $17,000 for new town hall; $40,000 to hard surface all of front or beach road; $43,000 for sewerage; $5,000 for drainage; $5,000 for public piers, etc.

—A meeting of the Hancock county citizens is called for next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the courthouse, to hear the plans discussed of the work planned by the Mississippi State Development Board. It is the object of the Development Board to further build the State, to bring more people here and to procure for the State all that it is entitled to. The meeting is one of the utmost importance to our people and there ought to be a large attendance of the better and more progressive element.

—There was quite a gathering of citizens at the assembly at the W. Taylor School, in Ward 1, Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Lambert, an authority on child nutrition, working under the auspices of the State Board of Child Welfare, addressed the pupils in the interest of their work, accompanied by Miss Short, county trained nurse. Prior to the speaking, which was of much value and of vital interest, Miss Breath and Miss Payard had their pupils to present an impromptu program. The Milk Drinkers' Club at the Taylor School is practically 100 per cent.

—Next Wednesday week, "Better Babies Day" for Hancock county. Under the auspices of State and county authority, local representatives of the Mississippi Child's Welfare Board, here will be weighed and given free physical examination all babies and children up to school age; advice as to proper care and feeding of babies during coming hot summer months by county nurse, and Miss Lambert, State supervisor of nutrition health, buttons will be awarded all perfect babies. Dr. Underwood, director of the work for Mississippi, is also expected to be present.

—R. N. Blaize, wide-awake and progressive citizen, has taken the local agency for Liberty "Pep" Gasoline Company, and a great store house has been built at the end of the Blaize pier, head Washington street. In addition to two immense tanks storing gas in this new building, an innovation and one that will prove of incalculable convenience to boatmen from along the Coast, is the installing of an extra tank to supply vessels direct with gas. Mr. Blaize is justly proud of the handsome and commodious buildings erected at the end of the pier and the convenience it will mean to local consumers.

—CALPODES ELTHIUS INFESTS LOCAL FLOWER GARDENS.

Canna Leaf Roller Imperis Plants. Bay St. Louis Resident Has A. & M. College Experts to Write on Subject.

Bay St. Louis is noted for its many beautiful flower gardens and plants that grow therein. It has been said, anything that will grow elsewhere will do equally as well here.

None do better than the canna lily, and there are many specimens of size and color in and around Bay St. Louis. But these and all other canna species are threatened with destruction undergoing at present the ravages of a caterpillar known as calpodes elthius or commonly as the canna leaf roller. It will be noted the new leaf in process of development is sealed with a silk-like web. This prevents the opening and further growth. Break this seal with any sharp instrument and the bug is found within eating the surface of the leaf, and finally there is nothing left of the plant.

Someone from Bay St. Louis addressed a letter of inquiry to the State Plant Board of Mississippi, A. & M. College, and as a result the following bulletin has been issued. It will be read with interest and profit. The local garden not infested with the canna leaf roller is the exception. The bulletin follows:

"This insect is not thought to winter over, far north as Washington, D. C., but it often occurs there in the summer. It is very probable that it does winter over at least in South Mississippi and the adults begin laying eggs there in the spring, gradually coming north as the summer advances. It gets its common name from the fact that the larvae or 'worms' in feeding on canna cause the leaves to roll up around the insects, thus protecting them from their enemies. The adult is a medium-sized butterfly (skipper). The eggs are laid singly and sometimes in groups of five to seven on the under surface of the leaves. They hatch in a few days and the young larvae begin their work of feeding on the leaves. The edge of the leaf is folded over and fastened with a few strands of silk, forming a tube in which the larva develops. As the insect grows the tube is enlarged. The larva feeds along the edge of this tube and retreats within when disturbed. Often more than one larva is found in one tube.

"To successfully control this insect by spraying with arsenicals the spraying must be done before the leaves begin to roll up; however, some good might be done by dusting the plants with a mixture of one part of powdered arsenate of lead to two or three parts of flour. Small children should not be allowed to play among plants that have been poisoned. The danger of their being poisoned is not great, but no chances should be taken. For control of this pest on a limited number of plants the larvae can be killed by crushing them in their tubes or by cutting off the tubes and burning them. If this is done and the remainder of the plants dusted with the arsenate of lead mentioned above the insect can be prevented from doing serious damage. If a liquid spray is desired use powdered arsenate of lead at the rate of two pounds, or posts of four pounds to fifty gallons of water. If the powdered form is used it should be mixed with a small quantity of water and made into a paste before mixing it with the larger quantity of water. The spray used should be produced by shaking two or three pounds of good stone lime. This done to prevent burning of the foliage."

Her Faithful Friend
We welcome the accounts of women and urge every husband to start a bank account for his WIFE.

Many a man has been saved from financial disaster because his economical wife had tucked away money and had it on hand for a time of urgent need.

And then every woman should have a bank account and know how to handle affairs, because there is one chance out of two that she must some day rely on herself.

We will welcome your account.
